

ROTHBURY ROOTS

Keeping Music Live @ The Queens Head, Rothbury, Northumberland

"If there is a better, more intimate and atmospheric venue for Roots music in the UK I have yet to find it." (BLUES REVUE)

2018

January 25th - Rod Clements – A return of our own evergreen local hero

Feb 22nd – Songwriter's Circle: (Steve Daggett, Simon Todd, Ema Lea) Three great NE songwriters who perform this entertaining musical circle around Tyneside regularly so I thought I'd bring them to Northumberland to save you the journey!

March 29th – Findlay Napier – Findlay is making waves as a fantastic singer/songwriter both in his native Scotland and beyond. I'm really pleased to get Findlay to Rothbury for you.

April 26th – Charlie Dore – Charlie's songs have a unique style and they demand that you listen to her finely crafted and clever lyrics.

May 24th - Ian Sherwood – Over on tour from his native Canada I'm very pleased to offer a return gig for Ian.

June 28th - Gilmore & Roberts – Always a popular duo with their powerful songs and terrific mastery of their instruments (£12)

July 26th - Brooks Williams – Virtuoso acoustic blues from one of the hardest working guys on the circuit. Always welcome back to Rothbury August 30th - Plumhall – Nick and Michelle always put on a great show so they keep getting invited back. Infectious good humoured power-folk!

September 27th - Chris Cleverley – A new name for Rothbury Roots. Beautiful guitar playing with fine singing in the folk tradition

October 25th - Vera Van Heeringen Trio – Another first timer at Rothbury Roots is this UK based Dutch singer/songwriter with excellent backing musicians.

November 29th – Sarah McQuaid – Sarah is another Rothbury Roots regular and she has a great new album's worth of atmospheric songs for us.

Phone The Queen's Head to Book Tickets or for More Info :

01669 620470

sign up for our newsletter:

www.rothburyroots.com

Follow us on Twitter: @rothburyroots

Find us on Facebook: Rothbury Roots